

Getting to know my child

'Getting to know my child' can be used by parents as a means of passing useful information about their child on to Secondary School teachers and support staff. It is a useful and novel way of transferring practical information from Primary to Secondary School.

Aims of the activity

- To allow parents to transfer useful information about their child to Secondary School teachers and support staff
- These things may help/work for my child.... provides a space in which parents can list useful tips and/or strategies that may be helpful for new teachers/support staff.

Instructions for the activity

- The activity can be completed with a teacher, or individually by parents.

Adapting the activity

- 'Getting to know my child' could be completed before a Special Education Needs (SEN) review meeting as a means of providing evidence of the parent and child voice.

Getting to know my child

The information below may be useful for teachers and support staff when working with my child in Secondary School

My child's strengths are:

.....

.....

.....

.....

When my child moves to Secondary School I'm concerned about about

.....

.....

.....

My child is concerned about

.....

.....

.....

These things may help/work for my child:

.....

.....

.....

.....